

Why is it no longer enough to be technically knowledgeable if you want to succeed in the modern business world

Employers seek more than just technical skills, including communication, decision-making, teamwork, and leadership.

Having the most knowledge is not as important as getting the work done effectively and collaboratively good language skills could give you a competitive advantage- Important for international projects

Companies seek engineers with good foreign language skills

Briefly explain the advantages of Intranets & Extranets

real time updates central access point share data and know-how ideal for home office store knowledge centrally feeling of belonging saves time money avoids duplication